Tom Sewell Internship

Creative intern for Tom Sewell a Multi-media artist based in Maui, HI. I created a large archive index for films using Excel creating an easier access to find specific projects. This included manually relabeling works and reorganizing categories and volumes together. Working with Tom and teammates we photographed aged WW2 print block stamps from a Japanese press and cleaned them for archival purposes. I designed layouts within InDesign and created illustrations for Tom Sewell's biography book. With the finished book layout for the Biography book I created a video with Premiere Rush to present my layout at a dinner event within a day. As a team we collected research and organized an Excel sheet to potential clients and venues for Tom's Sculptures. This included mockups within Photoshop to show clients potential to grow with Tom's work. I designed and screenprinted T-shirt design for Maui diving club, Snork N Fork. As a team we screen print the designs in mass quantities overcoming limited time.

“Handy”, Type Face

I created a typeface using Illustrator with arm silhouettes to make clear and bold letters. I was inspired to create a playful design with interlocking hands to spell out that this typeface is indeed quite handy. Even as a complicated idea, I designed the letters to be very clear and precise with the integration of hands and arms.
