A Workshop for Christian Initiation Ministers

Catechesis during the Period of the Catechumenate

The wisdom of RCIA 75.1 is that the catechumenal journey is to be a gradual process. What is catechesis in the catechumenate supposed to look like? Why and how does it need to be “accommodated to the liturgical year?” What is a “profound sense of the mystery of salvation,” and how do we instill it in the catechumens and ourselves? Catechumeneon team members will present a vision of what this extended time of formation and instruction looks like. Finally, participants will be challenged and invigorated to consider the many ways in which “catechesis both precedes the liturgy and springs from it” (National Directory for Catechesis, 33).

SESSIONS INCLUDE:

- The Four Aspects of Catechumenal Formation
- Catechesis and the Liturgical Year: Revealing the Paschal Mystery
- Training Exercise: Preparing Catechesis
In and For Your Community
- Catechesis for Baptized Candidates and the Reception into Full Communion

WORKSHOP PRESENTERS

TIMOTHY A. JOHNSTON, an Editor and Liturgical Training Consultant for Liturgy Training Publications, holds degrees in music education, liturgical studies, and Christian doctrine. Timothy has been engaged in initiation ministry at the parish and diocesan level for more than 20 years coordinating and training teams. He is co-author of Disciples Making Disciples: Print and Digital Resources for Forming the Assembly (LTP, 2017).

XIMENA DEBROECK, PHD, forms Christian initiation ministers (in English and Spanish) while serving as Director of Catechetical and Pastoral Formation for the Archdiocese of Baltimore. She is an assistant professor of Sacred Scripture at St. Mary's Seminary and University, Baltimore, and senior fellow at the St. Paul Center for Biblical Theology. Ximena is a main presenter at the 2019 National Gathering on Christian Initiation.
