Dr. Raul Escarpio is the director for CatholicEd4All, a Catholic based consulting company that works with Catholic dioceses and schools nationwide to provide professional and consultative services on how to best meet the needs of diverse learners including placement options. He sits on the National Catholic Education Association's (NCEA) Exceptional Learners Committee and the Council for Exceptional Children's (CEC) Honors Committee. Furthermore, he hosts a weekly podcast on Catholic special education (CatholicEd4All) where he interviews leaders in Catholic special education nationwide including archbishops, superintendents, directors, and teachers. These guests share best practices in creating inclusive schoolwide programs. He is especially blessed in being married for the past 18 years and has a 10-year-old son.
