The diagram shows a horizontal bar chart. On the left, there is a legend with two entries: a black square followed by a yellow square, and a red square. Below the legend, there is a horizontal bar chart. The bar chart has a single bar that is divided into three segments: a black segment on the left, a yellow segment in the middle, and a red segment on the right. The bar is positioned above a horizontal axis line. To the right of the bar, there is a vertical line segment that extends from the top of the bar down to the horizontal axis line. This vertical line segment is part of a larger structure that includes a horizontal line segment extending to the right, which then turns downwards into another vertical line segment. This second vertical line segment is positioned to the right of the first vertical line segment and is connected to it by a horizontal line segment at the top. The entire structure is enclosed in a rectangular box.

Below the legend, there is a horizontal bar chart. The bar is divided into three segments: a black segment on the left, a red segment in the middle, and a yellow segment on the right. A vertical line is drawn at the end of the black segment, and another vertical line is drawn at the end of the red segment. A horizontal line is drawn below the bar, and a vertical line is drawn at the end of the bar.
