

MARCH LETTER

March at a Glance

Hello Green Room Families,

As we brace the sunny and rainy days to come, we are also getting ready for a jam packed month full of fun activities. This month we'll be exploring topics such as St. Patrick's, Spring, Dr. Seuss, and various wetland animals. This month is also filled with lots of birthdays, so a big happy birthday to our March kiddos; we can't wait to celebrate!

During the first week, we will be discussing Dr. Seuss' birthday. We'll be reading classics like Cat in the Hat and Green Eggs and Ham. The kiddos can also look forward to making green slime, experimenting with fizzy green eggs and ham, making silly "socks", and much more.

The second week of this month is all about St. Patrick's Day. We'll be learning more about shamrocks, rainbows, pots of gold, and of course, Leprechauns. The kiddos will have the opportunity to create self-portraits of their leprechaun self using orange puffy paint and green top hat cutouts.

Next, we'll be diving deeper into learning about different wetland animals like frogs, snakes, alligators, beavers, and ducks. You can look forward to art projects like frog party blowers, toy snake paintings, paper plate beavers, and much more.

We will end the month discussing Spring! Our kiddos will be learning more about the sun, clouds and rain, flowers, ladybugs and bees, and kites. We're excited to be incorporating snacks into this week's lesson plan, so look forward to the cheese and cracker suns and rainbow fruit that our kiddos will be munching on.

Best,

Ms. Na and Ms. Algrae
