

GUSTAVO DUDAMEL

MUSIC DIRECTOR

Walt and Lilly Disney Chair

Dynamic conductor Gustavo Dudamel's passionate music-making invigorates audiences of all ages worldwide. He is concurrently serving as Music Director of the Los Angeles Philharmonic and of the Simón Bolívar Symphony Orchestra of Venezuela, and the impact of his musical leadership is felt on several continents.

While his commitment to his music director posts in the United States and Venezuela accounts for the major portion of his yearly schedule, Dudamel also guest conducts with some of the world's greatest musical institutions each season. This season he returns to the Vienna Philharmonic, the Berlin Philharmonic, and La Scala in both opera and concert, along with appearances with the Royal Concertgebouw, the Berlin Staatskapelle, the Israel Philharmonic, the Santa Cecilia Orchestra, and the Gothenburg Symphony, where he is now Honorary Conductor.

Dudamel is in his fourth season as Music Director of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, where his contract has already been extended until 2018/19, the orchestra's 100th season. Under his leadership the Los Angeles Philharmonic has extended its reach to an unprecedented extent via LA Phil LIVE, experimental theatercasts of Los Angeles Philharmonic concerts which have reached audiences throughout North America, Europe, and South America, and through Youth Orchestra Los Angeles (YOLA), influenced by Venezuela's widely successful El Sistema. With YOLA, Gustavo brings music to children in the underserved communities of Los Angeles, and also serves as an inspiration for similar efforts throughout the United States, as well as for programs in Sweden and Scotland.

It is not only the breadth of the audience reached, but also the depth of the programming performed under Gustavo Dudamel that is remarkable. Programs at the Los Angeles Philharmonic in 2012/13 represent the best and the boldest: ranging from an LA Phil-commissioned and now staged oratorio by John Adams titled The Gospel According to the Other Mary, which the LA Phil and Dudamel toured to New York's Lincoln Center, London's Barbican Centre, Switzerland's Lucerne Festival, and Paris' Salle Pleyel, to a staged Marriage of Figaro with sets by architect Jean Nouvel, representing part two of a three-consecutive-year project of presenting the Mozart/Da Ponte trilogy.

Having triumphed in performances at the 2012 Olympics in London, Gustavo Dudamel continues to lead the Simón Bolívar Symphony Orchestra in his native Venezuela as well as on tour, in his 14th season as Music Director. Late fall 2012 touring included performances at Berkeley's Cal Performances, Chicago's Symphony Hall, Washington's Kennedy Center, Philadelphia's Kimmel Center, and New York's Carnegie Hall, where they were part of the Voices from Latin America festival. The orchestra then embarked on a five-country tour of South America. The Bolívar season rounds out with a production of Tannhäuser at the Bogotá Opera in June 2013, followed by a 2013 summer residency at the Salzburg Festival.

An exclusive Deutsche Grammophon artist since 2005, Gustavo Dudamel has numerous recordings on the label, the most recent being Mahler Symphony No. 9 with the Los Angeles Philharmonic. In February 2012, Dudamel and the Los Angeles Philharmonic won the Grammy for Best Orchestral Performance for their live recording of the Brahms Symphony No. 4. In spring 2012, an LP of Mendelssohn's Symphony No. 3 with the Vienna Philharmonic was released, with proceeds donated to charity for the purchase of instruments for young musicians of El Sistema in San Vicente, Venezuela. In August 2012, the CD, DVD, and PBS telecast of the live Vienna Philharmonic Schönbrunn concert, The Summer Night Concert, was released. The September 2012 release, Gustavo Dudamel: Discoveries, is a compilation of recording activities with the Vienna and Berlin Philharmonics, the Simón Bolívar Symphony Orchestra, and the Gothenburg Symphony (CD, CD+DVD). Released in October 2012, Dudamel: Mahler 8 - Symphony of a Thousand Live from Caracas (DVD + Blu-Ray) features the combined forces of the LA Phil and the Bolívars. Anticipated for release during the fall of 2013 is an all-Strauss disc with the Berlin Philharmonic (CD).

In the area of video/DVD, many releases capture the excitement of important concerts in Gustavo Dudamel's musical life, including The Inaugural Concert documenting his first concert in 2009 as Music Director of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, New Year's Eve Concert Gala 2011 with the Berlin Philharmonic, and a Birthday Concert for Pope Benedict XVI, among others. In June 2011, a documentary, Let the Children Play, featuring Dudamel, was shown in over 500 Fathom movie theaters nationwide. Gustavo Dudamel has been featured three times on CBS's 60 Minutes and appeared on a 2010 PBS special, Dudamel: Conducting a Life, with Tavis Smiley. He appeared on Sesame Street with Elmo in February 2012.

Gustavo Dudamel is one of the most decorated conductors of his generation. He has recently been named Musical America's 2013 Musician of the Year, one of the highest honors in the classical music industry. In October of 2011, he was named Gramophone Artist of the Year, and in May of the same year, was inducted into the Royal Swedish Academy of Music in consideration of his "eminent merits in the musical art." The previous year, he received the Eugene McDermott Award in the Arts at MIT. Dudamel was inducted into l'Ordre des Arts et des Lettres as a Chevalier in Paris in 2009, and received an honorary doctorate from the Universidad Centro-Occidental Lisandro Alvarado in his hometown of Barquisimeto. He also received an honorary doctorate from the University of Gothenburg in 2012. In 2008, the Simón Bolívar Youth Orchestra was awarded Spain's prestigious annual Prince of Asturias Award for the Arts and, along with his mentor José Antonio Abreu, Dudamel was given the "Q Prize" from Harvard University for extraordinary service to children.

Named one of Time Magazine's 100 most influential people in 2009, Gustavo Dudamel was born in 1981 in Barquisimeto, Venezuela. He began violin lessons as a child with José Luis Giménez and Francisco Díaz at the Jacinto Lara Conservatory. He continued his violin studies with Rubén Cova and José Francisco del Castillo at the Latin American Academy of Violin. His conducting studies began in 1996 with Rodolfo Saglimbeni and, that same year, he was given his first conducting position, Music Director of the Amadeus Chamber Orchestra. In 1999, he was appointed Music Director of the Simón Bolívar Youth Orchestra and began conducting studies with the orchestra's founder, Dr. Abreu; a few years later in 2004, Dudamel was brought to international attention by winning the inaugural Bamberger Symphoniker Gustav Mahler Competition. These early musical and mentoring experiences molded his commitment to music as an engine for social change – a lifelong passion.

In 2012, Gustavo and Eloísa Dudamel launched the Dudamel Foundation, which is dedicated to furthering music education and social justice around the world. Gustavo Dudamel, his wife Eloísa Maturén, and their young son Martín divide their time mainly between Caracas and Los Angeles.

Additional information about Gustavo Dudamel can be found on his website:
www.gustavodudamel.com.