

ANIMAL HABITATS

JANUARY 2019

Welcome back Purple Room friends! Hope you all had a wonderful winter break. We missed you all! We have officially kicked off the new year and are excited for all the fun events happening this year. This month we will be talking about animal habitats and animals of the world!

The first week we will learn all about desert animals. We will go over the animals that live and roam in the desert land. We will discuss the sun rise and sun set in the desert as well as where the animals go to rest for the night. We will go over lizards, snakes, iguanas and turtles.

The second week is all about polar animals. We will focus on the polar bears and the walrus. We will make marshmallow stamped penguins, a paper plate walrus and handprint snowflakes with silver glitter paint! We will go over what polar animals eat and how they survive in their habitat.

The third week we will focus on animals that live in the grasslands. We will be mixing various art mediums to create artwork. The kiddos will make a creative spaghetti lion and a marble paint bunny. We will go over kangaroos, cheetahs, baboons and giraffes.

Lastly we will be talking about jungle animals and the environment these animals live in. We will make a jungle animal footprint trail, the kids will sponge paint a paper plate snake, and make sloths hanging from a tree branch.

We are very excited for the year 2019 and we are happy we get to share all the fun activities we have planned with all of our Purple Room families!!
